

Dining With Death

As You Like it Productions has become a market leader in Murder Mysteries due to the unique way we combine drama, comedy and audience participation to produce a quality event that you and your clients will never forget. Using all the biographical and company information you supply us with, we produce a skillfully crafted personalized comedy murder mystery script that is entirely written around you and your company.

Our murder mysteries are used as a great company team building event, as a sophisticated entertainment for valued clients, a great 'icebreaker' for a newly formed department or an ideal inclusive entertainment for an international group. Oh yes, and our murder mysteries are a great alternative to the traditional office Christmas party too!

"I don't know when I have laughed so much! I barely ate a thing because I didn't want to miss any of the proceedings. The script and the delivery by the actors were works of genius!"

During pre-dinner drinks, the actors mingle with the guests. When an 'argument' ends with the eventual death of one of the actresses, the disguised Detective reveals this true identity and sends everyone into dinner. As he questions the murder suspects, who are not only actors but also key company members, equipped with a few lines before the event, a hilarious plot begins to emerge; the guests are divided into teams in order to help the detective solve the crime!

Toward the end of the main course, a prominent member of your management team staggers into the room with a knife sticking out of their chest and drops down dead! Autopsy results are served up with the sweet, and upon hearing them, the victim re-enters the room, dressed as a ghostly devil - thus ensuring they don't miss their dessert!

The Detective then grills unsuspecting guests about their involvement in the plot, as well as on things that may have been divulged about them at the briefing meeting. Each team is challenged to present their solution as to the mystery murders in the form of a song!

"Thank you for the fabulous Murder Mystery entertainment at Weston Park. We've had amazing feedback from the journalists who are calling it the best event ever!"

After a short break, the Detective announces who he thinks the killer is, and the murderer takes a member of the audience hostage and reveals the reason why he or she killed the two victims! The murderer will be someone in your company who will be secretly contacted prior to the event. The Detective arrests the murderer, introduces the actors and awards a prize for the most entertaining song.
